Pedro was born in 1982 in Mexico City and began his musical education early, influenced by his father, the Catalan jazz musician Francesc Alcàcer. He studied jazz guitar with Francisco Lelo de la Rea and subsequently classical guitar and composition with Hector Ramos. He completed his classical guitar studies at the Escuela Nacional de Música-UNAM and continued his studies with Isabelle Villei, Eloy Cruz and Antonio Corona. In 2006 he obtained the professional diploma in Renaissance and Baroque plucked instruments at the Conservatory in Girona under Xavier Diaz-Latorre.

He then continued his studies at the Hochschule für Künste Bremen under Joachim Held and Lee Santana, before refining his instrumental skills with Evangelina Mascardi in Italy. He has collaborated with distinguished conductors such as Gabriel Garrido, Alessandro di Marchi, Marco Mencoboni, Paolo Faldi, Riccardo Doni, Horacio Franco, Christoph Hammer, Carlos Aranzay, Gerhard Oppel, Burak Özdemir and others, performing at renowned festivals and concert series in Italy, Germany, Spain, France, Czech Republic, Belgium, the Netherlands, Brazil and Mexico.

Hugo Miguel de Rodas Sánchez was born in Mexico City, where he first studied classical guitar at the Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México. In 2004 he won the Rosa Mística guitar competition in Curitiba, Brazil, before turning his focus to historical lute instruments and the performance practice of early music. He attended numerous masterclasses and was invited in 2008 by the Freiburger Barockorchester to deepen his studies in Europe.

He then studied lute instruments and Baroque guitar with Lee Santana and Joachim Held at the Hochschule für Künste Bremen, and performed under distinguished conductors such as Gabriel Garrido with numerous ensembles and orchestras, including the Deutsche Kammerphilharmonie Bremen, Knabenchor Hannover, Bremer Barockorchester, Orkiestra Historyczna, Holland Baroque and Los Temperamentos, in many countries across Europe, Central and South America.

MECATL

HARMONIUM

Two friends and colleagues who happened to grow up and study in the same neighbourhood and at the same university in one of the largest cities in the world. Pedro and Hugo share not only their birthplace and alma mater, but also a passion for Renaissance and Baroque music, and the cultural heritage shaped by a country of enormous cultural and musical richness: Mexico.
